LARGEST CROWD EXPECTED AT RACING SEASON AT TANFORAN

Racing Season To Open Tomorrow At State's Most Famous Track; Prearations Complete For Twenty-five Day Breeders' Association Meet

With some o the finest horses on the American turf entered the Pacific Coast Breeders Association will open its Fall racing meet tomorrow at Tanforan, San Bruno, before what it is expected will be the largest assemblage of fans ever to witness a race at this course. More than 750 horses are in the stables for the 25-day meeting, closing December 13.

Every preparation has been made for the session this season and the great Tanforan racing plant, situated on El Camino Real about 12 miles south of San Francisco, has taken on holiday attire for the races. The stables have been greatly enlarged, the clubhouse has been added to, and the stands generally painted and improved. The track has been worked over for weeks and is in splendid shape for the inaugural tomorrow (Saturday.)

Featuring the opening day events will be the Inaugural Handicap, worth $2,500, and for which some 20 nominations have been made. This race will be for a mile and 70 yards out of the Bahr starting gate, a marked improvement and time saver over the old method of starting.

Nominations for this feature include Easter Stockings, Honor Bright, Nellie Custis, Fatigue, Bud Broom, Hand To Hand, General Jackson, Fatin Spar, Schooner, Lady Seth's Hope, Upright, Gold Rush, Irfaneh, Cantankerous, Mi Concha, Andromeda, Tonto Rock and Dark Ayr.

The breeders have gone to great lengths this year to get a better corps of jockeys than they had at the Spring meeting, and according to the entries thus far, have been unusually successful in acquiring a host of first string riders for the races at Tanforan.

Such performers as Ralph Ayraud, Chicago star, and Lloyd Fage, California sensation in the East this year, will be on the program at San Bruno. Several native son riders are expected to climb into the limelight during the meeting.

Judge Joseph A. Murphy will again be presiding steward and director of racing. He has just arrived from Chicago and announces that the program this fall at Tanforan is an exceptional one and equal to any put on in the East. He commented on the high purses and fine quality of horses and riders. He added that Tanforan will be conducted on the same high principles as last Spring, and as prevail on Eastern tracks. Judge Murphy is one of the best known horsemen in America.

W. R. Norvell, J. S. Rothert and Peter Clark will be racing judges; Jack Dennis is track superintendent and Des Dressen is in charge of the option department. Post time will be at 2 p.m. promptly.

Tanforan will have ample facilities for the thousands of cars that are expected for the inaugural tomorrow (Saturday). Special police will handle traffic and facititate the filling and emptying of the big arena. Southern Pacific trains to San Bruno and bus lines direct to the gate will bring other throngs for the meeting.

Red Cross Seeks Membership Fund

Lions Club Begins Drive For Organization To Aid Sufferers

Emergency relief was extended by the American Red Cross to 90,000 sufferers in 102 disasters during the past year, according to a statement made by Mrs. Z. T. Thorning, chairman of the local chapter. These disasters extended over 147 counties in 38 states and required the services of 180 Red Cross chapters. They involved a total expenditure of $1,320,766.00 on the part of the national Red Cross and its chapters.

In commenting on these figures, Mrs. Thorning stated that although they are large, they represent a comparatively light year of disaster service according to Red Cross standards. No one catastrophe was of such proportions as to necessitate a nation-wide appeal for funds, as in the case of the West Indies hurricane in 1928 and the Mississippi flood in 1927. The relief and rehabilitation work was handled by contributions from communities near the stricken areas, supplemented by appropriations from the general funds of the national organization.

The national Red Cross looks to the membership fees from its annual Roll Call to replace the expenditures from its general funds, Mrs. Thorning pointed out. "For the past eight years these expenditures, for disaster relief alone, have averaged $870,000 annually. An increased membership is imperative if these replacements are to be made."

The Redwood City chapter has always met with a ready response from the people of this community. This year the annual drive for membership dues is being handled by the Redwood City Lion's Club, which has assumed the task of conducting the solicitation as a part of their service to the community. J. Milton Johnson is in charge of the committee which is doing this work and is being assisted by the following members of the club:

Norman J. Menefee, George McQueen, A. W. Pike, Gene Cerqui, Hugh Gardiner, Ludwig Werder, Joe Smith, and Frank Towne.

In the residential district the work of soliciting funds will be done by the following ladies: Mrs. Ida Thompson, Mrs. Miles Sharkey, Mrs. Harry Potts, Mrs. Mary Winter, Mrs. J. S. Whitcomb, Mrs. Cerqui, Mrs. Mamie Glennan, Mrs. Lulu Goertzhain, Mrs. Roy Peterson, Mrs. H. Durnham, Mrs. Agnes Coleman, and Mrs Thomas Cutting.

The play is quite unusual and will be thoroughly enjoyed, according to those who have seen the rehearsals. "Come and find out how three small pills do a world of good for three poor souls," said Rev. J. R. Rudkin, pastor of the church. "It will be entirely your loss if you don't." The public is cordially invited to this as to all services of the church.

Deputy Sheriffs Recovering from Crash Injuries

Deputy Sheriff Joe Meeks Most Seriously Hurta; Now Recovering

At least three of the deputies from the office of Sheriff J. J. McGrath were reported yesterday to be improving after the unfortunate series of accidents which has confined four of the deputies to hospitals since last Saturday. Deputy Sheriffs Tom Maloney and C. A. Callaghan, both of whom were injured in a crash on the Bayshore boulevard which resulted in the death of three colored residents of San Mateo, are reported to be recovering from their injuries at the South San Francisco hospital.

At a hospital in Petaluma, Jail Matron Mrs. Dolly Grainger is also recovering from injuries received in an auto accident near there Saturday. The most seriously injured, however, Deputy Sheriff Joseph Meeks, is still in a serious condition at the Petaluma hospital as the result of injuries sustained in the same accident in which Mrs. Grainger was hurt. It was stated on Tuesday that the attending physician had stated that there was no hope for the recovery of the deputy sheriff, who had suffered a crushed chest. Yesterday, however, the news from the hospital was more encouraging.

Deputy Meeks and Jail Matron Grainger were taking a woman patient to the Mendocino state home when the accident occured. The patient was uninjured, but Mrs. Grainger suffered an injured leg. Meeks was crushed against the bank by the steering wheel of the car and was badly injured.

Deputy Sheriffs Maloney and Callaghan left here upon receiving the news of the accident, to complete the task on which the deputy and jail matron were employed when the accident occured. On the Bayshore highway, near the Mills Feld, a car driven by James Walter, colored, and in which Mrs. Walter and a Mrs. Phillips were riding, skidded in front of the sheriff's car. There was a crash in which all three occupants of the Walter car were killed, and in which both deputy sheriffs were injured.

COMMITTEE TO GATHER DATA ON HISTORIC COUNTY POINTS

System of Markers Planned by State Chamber of Commerce To Indicate Points of Historic Interest In Various Counties; Committees to Aid

Historic points in San Mateo county are to be located and marked under a plan of the California State Chamber of Commerce, according to a communication from that organization to Manager Roscoe D. Wyatt of the San Mateo County Chamber of Commerce, asking him to head a local committee to be formed to study the situation and report the names and locations of places considered important and of historical interest.

The letter says in part: "As you very well know, California's history is perhaps the second to no other in the Union and yet, in many ways, we have failed to capitalize on this very valuable asset.

"We have been studying this matter for some time past and have at last determined on a plan which we feel is absolutely sound, and will result in a greater knowledge of California's history and at the same time bring to the individual communities an increase in travel and, therefore, an added source of income not now being experienced.

"The plan which we have developed contemplates the placing of diversion markers along the various roads and highways directing travel to the principal points of historical interest. The first step in this plan, of course, is the development of a complete list of the major historical locations in every county, and just as soon as this list is completed for the entire state, then undertake the second step in the program; namely, enlisting some agency to erect diversion markers."

Manager Wyatt has already collected data on the locations of the various camping places of the Portola Expedition of 1769—the Broderick-Terry dueling place; the Hospice or Halfway House built in 1778 near Mills Hospital; the sighting of Pillar Point by Capt. Francisco de Gali in 1585; Woodside Store built in 1854; and other points and will welcome an authentic information which should be considered by the committee. He will be particularly pleased to have accurate information as to the discovery and naming of Punta Ano Nueva, New Years Point, the southwestern extremity of the county.

That a complete list of major historical locations may be had Mr. Wyatt requests that suggestions be sent to him at Box 148, Redwood City.

A Word About Dr. Toner

By D. E. O'KEEFE

When James Rolph lays down his burdens as mayor of San Francisco on January first to assume heavier ones as governor, there will be a scramble for the vacant mayoralty among the politicians. A friend of the retiring mayor will likely be selected for the coveted place. Mr. Rolph may or may not take a hand in the contest. The supervisors have the say in the matter and may chose one of their own members to fill the vacancy. Should this be done, we know of no one better qualified, more capable and one who would meet with the approval of Mayor Rolph than Dr. J. M. Toner, a member of the board for the past two years. In the primary campaign Dr. Toner did yoeman service for the mayor, speaking almost every day and at night meetings for the candidate for governor. He is an eloquent speaker and was in big demand everywhere, not only in San Francisco but throughout the state. His arguments were sound and logical, making many votes for the mayor. Aside from his great friendship for Mr. Rolph, Mr. Toner is fully qualified for the position. He is a man of high standing in his profession, is wealthy and is capable. He has a pleasing personality and is popular with the masses. The doctor would make a splendid mayor, colorful, efficient and would carry out the policiies of Mr. Rolph, which the people of San Francisco will demand from the new mayor. Nothing would please Mr. Rolph more than to see his friend Toner appointed as his successor. Both have worked together for the betterment of the city and the peninsula. Both are property owners in San Mateo county and the citizens of the peninsula would like to see Toner mayor. Let us hope that Doctor J. M. Toner will be the new mayor of San Francisco.

Men or Machines?

The subordination of mankind to machinery would, were it permitted to develop unchecked to its fullest, halt the forward march of civilization and destroy the independence of humanity as would a devasting war. But common reasoning must disclose the fatality of such happening. Without the power to purchase the worker becomes a nonconsumer and a "dead" market confronts the producer. Every human deprived of the means of a livelihood by man-displaced machinery curtails the purchasing power in the market. Without consumers of what benefit a world of machines turning out vast quantities of goods? As an editorial in the Duluth (Minn.) Herald recently put it:

"Machinery is useful in proportion to its service to mankind and that means all mankind and not just a few. So far as it enriches the few by opportunities denied to the many, and renders the many subject to slavery from which the few are free, it is an evil and a menace. If man lives to serve the machine then indeed the machine is not the willing slave of humanity that it ought to be, but a new tyrant. The right purpose of the machine is to free mankind from drudgery, to make its living easier and more comfortable and to enlarge its leisure. We are on the way to that goal and incidental hardships such as the increase of unemployment due to improved machinery only prove that we are not yet there. When we conquer such problems, as we must, we shall be much nearer the goal. And it is well to keep that goal in mind and dangerous to forget it."

—Typographical Journal.

Difficult to Make Jobs

Municipalities in California confronted with the task of outlining projects in the way of public improvements to be undertaken in connection with unemployment relief, are finding it difficult to offer the kind of enterprises that will make emergency employment. It is very evident that work dependent upon manual labor is about the only kind that can qualify under the relief plans, and such work is difficult to improvise since machinery enters so generally into all industry now. Machines do so much of the labor in these days that they seem to be partly responsible for the conditions that render relief necessary.

A western firm said, "If we could collect the accounts owing, we could continue." That little word "If" tells the whole story, and tells the story of many a local businessman who is in difficulties.

More money in circulation is the best remedy for unemployment.

Politics and Hard Times

By D. E. O'KEEFE

Whenever there is a business depression in the country and when times are hard the party in power is blamed and such party is often punished by defeat at the polls. The set back of the Republican party at the recent election bears this statement out. President Hoover did not bring on the present hard times. He did not cause the debacle in the stock market, nor is he responsible for the unemployment of men throughout the country, yet his party is punished for this condition of things. It is fortunate for the country that we have such an able leader in the White House. With a man of less vision, smaller capabilities the depression would have developed into a panic that might have caused many a business man to go to the wall.

Mr. Hoover by his wisdom and statesmanship was able to avert the disaster and keep the country in a fairly normal state. The worst is over and by spring prosperity will again spread its wings over all. No man could have done better under the trying circumstances that has Mr. Hoover. The people of the United States have faith in his ability and wisdom. They trust him. Inside of a year the pendulum will change for the better and when 1932 rolls around Hoover will be swept back into power with even a greater vote than he received in 1928. Cleveland, one of the best presidents this country has ever had, was defeated for re-election in 1887 for the reason that hard times prevailed during his administration. The democratic party was defeated at the next election and Benjamin Harrison, the republican, placed in the White House. The depression continued in the Harrison administration and he likewise, was defeated. So it has been from the days of Washington to the present time. The people appear to hold the party in power responsible for economic conditions of the country. While the political party may not have control over conditions that bring about depressions and panics it is blamed and usually retired. The reasoning is wrong but the voter will not see the light in any other way.

A Call For Aid

With an estimated 5,000,000 persons threatened with idleness this winter, and approximately 20,000,000 likely to need aid during the cold weather, the cooperation of every citizen and civic organization is going to be necessary to cope with the nation-wide suffering arising through unemployment.

The National Emergency Committee for Employment appointed by President Hoover is promoting an extensive campaign to alleviate the situation. Units are being organized in every community to meet local problems. The appeal for aid has been sent forth to all. The replies have been fairly numerous. Large industries have promised to employ as much labor as possible. One small loan corporation has made available a special fund of $100,000 to local welfare bodies in over 200 cities of the country for the purpose of helping as many families as possible. This is to be distributed in amounts of $10 to $50 per family to be paid back in small monthly payments, without interest or other charges, when the breadwinner of the family finds employment. Individuals have made contributions to various funds. Yet the response has not been sufficient to meet the need.

To a person who has always been fortunate enough to have an income that assured a home and plenty to eat, the realization of what it means to be without these does not come very easily. Some day in the near future take a little time off and visit a mission or municipal lodging house where those without the price of a meal or bed seek their food and lodging. Watch that group of men as they line up and file by to receive their portion of food; see how eagerly they grasp the bread and bowl of stew; with what difficulty they restrain their hunger and wait their turn. One glimpse of those tired hungry faces, stamped with a mixture of misery and hope, longing and despair, will stimulate anyone possessed with a spark of human sympathy with the desire to do something to lessen the number of those in that unfortunate position. The call to aid those that are poor and cannot find work is one that no citizen can well ignore.

It is one thing to practice economy, but quite another to quit buying. Often the judicious expenditure of money represents wise economy. There is a vast difference between economy and hoarding.

The American people want peace in the world, not alone as a matter of material interest to our prosperity and welfare, but because gains to the moral and spiritual forces of the world are made through peace and not through war.—Herbert Hoover.

This is a good time to build or make improvements, perhaps planned for spring, because the cost will be considerably lower and also because it will provide much-needed employment for men out of work.

"Considering the warnings of candidates before the election, we were amazed to wake up this morning and find the country still in existence," comments the Hollister Free-Lance.

Love's Sacrifice
By Mildred Barbour

The old woman looked at her keenly. "You like the young doctor, don't you?"

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

Sally Todd and Lois Montgomery leave home to seek their fortunes in New York.

Sally's brother, Bert, who is in love with Lois, follows them.

Lois meets a young man whom she knew when she was a wealthy woman's secretary.

He and a chap named FRISBY show her and Sally little attention, but Lois' thoughts are chiefly on the problems of existence.

Lois finally gets a job with a firm of interior decorators. Sally struggles for a foothold in the movies. They have a hard time making both ends meet.

Sally enters hospital training, finally convinced that the films ha. no future for her.

Lois is absorbed i nher own work.

During her employer's illness, she is sent to the palatial residence of James Walton to make a preliminary report.

Sally's liking for gay company causes a coolness between herself and Lois.

It also involves Lois in difficulties with Bert.

Lois is strongly attracted to Walton, who is much older than herself, and very rich and distinguished.

—She finds him very cold and domineering.

—He demands she give up her friendship with Sally.

Sally, meanwhile, is in hot water at the hospital, because she is too fond of a good time.

Chapter 24

After an especially gay party she is assigned in an emergency to night duty.

She falls asleep while waiting for the special nurse to come, and the patient, in her delirium, rushes from the room and jumps from a window. By a miracle she escapes with minor injuries, but Sally's fate is sealed.

Unfit

She is dismissed in disgrace just before graduation.

Chapter 30.

Dr. Dale Randolph, out of sympathey, offers her a position in his office. He does not guess that Sally, while at the hospital, occasionally used drugs to bloster up her energies after gay parties.

Lois provides Sally with a little home in the country.

Chapter 31.

Not In A Receptive Mode

But Dr. Dale Randolph fought shy of Sally's invitations to tea. He was decidedly not interested in her or any other woman. His work took up most of his time, and the few hours that were left when he had finished it were more than filled by study and recreation.

Sally, when she had been in his office for a few months, began to resent his attitude toward her. 'I might as well be a stick of furniture," she told herself indignantly. "I don't think he sees me at all."

And, in a way, she was right. While Dr. Randolph was consideration itself toward those who helped him in his work, there was an impersonal note in his manner that Sally, whose own manner was not a bit impersonal, resented most violently.

When she had known him at the hospital, she had hoped that some day they would be friends, and she was grateful for the occasional smiles and cordial words that she received from him. But now that she saw him every day, now that she worked with him, took messages, interviewed patients, and served his interests in a dozen ways, she felt that he really needn't continue to be so unbending. She grew to resent his dignified professional manner, and now and then she mentally accused him of being "stuck up."

"Just putting on airs," she would grumble to herself. "Well, I don't care."

But she did care. For she was falling in love with Dale Randolph. "But what of it?" she murmured, with a little grimace.

She tried to occupy herself with a thousand details of housekeeping, now that she was installed in the little home that Lois had made for her. But even that didn't help. When she sat before the fire, after dinner, she would let her imagination have free rein. Suppose she and Dale Randolph were married . . .suppose she were waiting for him to come home after a day in the city. . .suppose. . . And then she would jump up and call herself a fool for falling in love with a man who would never care a snap of his fingers for her.

"He'll probably marry some society girl, after he's made a lot of money," Sally would moan. "And she won't know anything about his work and won't care anything about it. And here I am, crazy about him and interested in his success, and he hardly knows I'm on earth."

After these emotional sprees, she was always a little ashamed of herself, and the next day at the office she would be more than ordinarily attentive to her work, for, when she was honest with herself, she had to admit that, never by word or deed, had Dale Randolph given her any reason to think that he was sentimentally interested in her.

One of the doctor's patients, an old woman who bothered him almost to death with lengthy reports of her symptoms and ailments, came in one afternoon when office-hours were over, and found Sally in tears. She nodded significantly. Sally said something about a headache, wiped her eyes hastily, and asked: "Did you wish to make an appointment to see the doctor?"

The old woman looked at her keenly. "You like the young doctor, don't you?" she asked simply. Sally tried to look dignified and aloof, but she ended by blushing and admitting that she did. It was a relief to be able to reveal the true state of her feelings to someone.

The visitor sniffed and muttered. "You're not the only one. There's a dozen that feel just as you do. I've been his patient for two years and I've seen them."

Sally was to realize the truth of that statement with the coming of fall and the return of the doctor's patients from the country and from abroad. And then her torment assumed a new phase.

If there is one thing worse than being in love with a man who doesn't suspect your feeling for him, it is being in love with a man who not only does not suspect your feeling for him, but who is also the object of the admiration of a dozen other women.

And all these women, Sally reflected bitterly, belonged to the social circles in which Dr. Randolph moved, and they met him when his mind was not taken up with professional matters. How could she expect to compete with them?

Every now and then, Dr. Randolph would say to Sally: "Please remind me to write Mrs. Westerland that I won't be able to make it this weekend," or "Will you telephone Miss Jerold that I'm sorry but I can't play bridge tonight — I'm operating the first thing in the morning," or "When Miss Murdoch telephones, please say that I had to leave to keep an appointment, but that I'll be delighted to have dinner at her house Friday night."

Sally would deliver the messages glumly, if they were acceptances, and gladly, if they were regrets. The fact that there were usually more regrets than acceptances was a crumb of comfort.

Sometimes she would ask the doctor of he could suggest an interesting book. "I get so lonely out there in the country," she would hint. "The evenings seem so long. I suppose you never have time to get lonesome, Dr. Randolph? You're always going out or doing something."

And Dale Randolph, busy with his own affairs, would nod and smile, and there the matter would end. "I couldn't get him to come out and see me, if I were dying," Sally would think bitterly.

Gradually her wistful, adoring attitude toward Dr. Randolph began to change. She cared for him more than ever, but she began to resent him, too — or rather, she began to resent the fact that she cared so much, despite his continued indifference.

She fell into the frame of mind of a woman who has been shabbily treated by the man she loves. She knew that she was being very illogical, but she didn't care. She loved Dale Randolph, and she didn't see why he couldn't love her.

She began to develop nerves and she was often moody and despondent. In her unhappiness, her mind turned again to the thing that had sometimes helped her to overcome fatigue and the blues when she was at the hospital. But she was "off that stuff for life," she reminded herself, and then her heartache would be too much for her, and she would want the relief from worry that she had formerly found in the use of drugs.

Womans Club To Feature Pilgrim Days At Meeting

Pilgrim Music and Quilts To Be Studied At Meeting

With the approach of the Thanksgiving season recalling the days of the Pilgrim Fathers and their early struggles in this new land of America, the regular meeting of the Redwood City Woman's Club on November 20 will celebrate the occasion with a Pilgrim program given by the choral section under the direction of Mrs. Roy A. Hohberger. The choral members will appear in Pilgrim costume and the club house will be decorated in keeping with the period.

The Pilgrims were the first settlers to have any direct influence on American music. They adopted the music of the old world songs which they had brought with them to meet the conditions imposed upon them by straight-laced religious beliefs and by their primitive surroundings. The first group of songs on the program will be three hymns used by the Pilgrims and will be sung in the old manner. Arrangements of two of these songs for women's voices have been made especially or the occasion by Mrs. Hohberger. She will also use an old tuning fork which he great grandmother used as the leader of a singing-school.

The closing group of chorus numbers will be songs for 'Modern Friscillas', written by American composers of our own day. Among them will be two songs by women, "Little Brown Baby" by Caroline Bassett and the dainty "Snow Song" by Fay Foster. The closing number will be the dramatic "Hymn of the Pilgrims" adopted by the composer, Edward Mac Dowell, from "A. D. 1620", belonging to "Sea Pictures", a suite for piano.

QUILT EXHIBIT

Because of the renewed interest in the making and collecting of old quilts, an exhibit of patchwork quilts and handwoven counterpanes will be a feature of the Pilgrim program.

Already the committee have a collection of colorful quilts in a wide variety of patterns, both in the piecing and in the quilting. Several of these are prized heirlooms over a hundred years old with interesting histories. Most of the quilts have been made in more recent times but are copies of old Colonial patterns. Mrs. G. Chevassus and Mrs. J. T. Heiry are in charge and ask that any member who would be willing to contribute a quilt or counterpane for the exhibit communicate with them. It is asked that the name of the owner and the name of the quilt pattern, if known, and any historical associations be attached to each quilt.

The stage setting for the program will be the interior of a Pilgrim home. Many of the articles used will be authentic antiques of that period, including pewterware, old books, samplers and spinning wheels. It is asked that any article brought for this display also be accompanied by a short account of its history. Mrs. A. J. Stebenne, Mrs. A. E. Meyers and Mrs. C. A. Litton are the members of this committee.

Old Innkeeper Sails Back To Honest Revolts

Rumanian Woman's Dreams Shattered and Fortune Gone

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 13. (UP)—A little Japanese steamer cleared through Golden Gate today, bearing Mrs. Annie Whittler, 50, toward her goal—a land of "honest revolutions."

For 20 years Mrs. Whittler kept a hotel in Tientsin, China. As the seasons rolled by the sudden change from summer to winter and winter to summer, irked her. The turmoil of North China grew wearisome. The steady tramp of revolutionary armies by her door got on her nerves.

She dreamed of a land where there isn't at least one revolution per year. Visions came of the springtime poets sing about, and of soft and fragrant summers.

One day Mrs. Whittler packed up, bound for America with $12,000, her life savings, in a purse.

A native of Romania, she was not permitted to remain in the United States but that never worried her. Any America will do she thought.

Nicaragua sounded nice. So she went to Managua but from the first there was trouble.

"Soldiers didn't tramp past my door; they marched through the houses," she said.

Baggage disappeared. Passports were missing and in less than a year, her fortune, $12,000 in gold was gone.

Making her way to San Francisco, Mrs. Whittler arranged for economical transportation to the land where spring comes suddenly

So today a small Japanese vessel cleared from San Francisco carrying the black-eyed Rumanian woman back to North China and there she will start over again.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT SAYS MAN TO BECOME EXTINCT

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 14 (UP)—Man will follow the dinosaur in extinction because he is a "terminal twig" and cannot keep on developing, according to Dr. George B. Cutten, president of Colgate University.

Dr. Cutten, in a speech here, said that the species of man must pass out of existance in ages to come, in keeping with biological precedent. Then, too, man is over-specialized, Dr. Cutten asserted. One example of over-specialization lies in the fact that he walks upright. If he would avoid appendicitis he must revert to all fours.

Another fault of over-specialization is that although he knows "alcohol is bad for him," he wants it to escape from life's realities.

Radio Telephone Will Help Police

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov 14 (UP)—California highway patrol officers will be kept in constant communication with their central officers by radio telephone, if research work being conducted by the state division of motor vehicles proves successful.

Accidents and emergencies of all kinds, where officers are urgently needed, now occur with no possibility of getting patrolmen on the scene until too late to aid.

"Under present conditions we have no quick and sure means of getting in touch with our men on the highways in case they are needed to clear a traffic jam or give aid in accidents," explained Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles.

"The men are required to telephone to headquarters from points along the line but this system is slow and the need for the officers is frequently gone before we can get in touch with them."

The problem facing those conducting the research work lies in perfecting a receiving unit which will be light enough to mount on a motorcycle, and yet powerful enough to receive messages from a station 200 miles distant.

Short distance reception has already been accomplished, radio experts working on the plan said, but conditions in California make it necessary for receiving sets to function over long distances.

Preliminary plan of experiment involves the establishment of a 200 watt transmitter at the headquarters of the highway traffic school at Mather Field, near Sacramento.

Four cars equipped with receiving sets will be sent to different parts of the state to pick up the messages sent out from this transmitter. One will operate in the extreme northern counties, another in th southern counties, another along the coast and a fourth in the interior valleys.

These cars will make daily observations to determine where the "dead spots" of reception are located.

Should the tests prove successful a transmitter will probably be permanently located at Mather Field, with at least two other sets in other parts of the state, state officials said.

Sequoia Varsity Downed in Hard Grid Game Here

Improved Work Shown In Play By Cherokee Gridders Despite Loss

Playing an improved brand of football, the Sequoia high varsity was downed by the Palo Alto Vikings 18 to 7 in their last league game of the season on Armistice Day. The game featured Cleland's long romp to a touchdown for the Cherokee's lone score and also long runs by Arjo and Back for the Red and Green's first two touchdowns.

Al Cleland, Cherokee quarter, intercepted a Paly pass on his 10-yard stripe, and raced the remaining 90-yards along the sideline to the Paly goal line. Outside of this score the Cherokees were at loss to gain consistent yardage either by air or ground.

Palo Alto opened the scoring in the quarter, when on the first play of the game Arjo, Paly halfback and openfield runner, shot around the Indian's right end for 70-yards and a touchdown. The attempted convert failed when Paly was offside. After Arjo had made a gain of 15 yards, Back, Indian fullback, ambled the remaining 10 yards to score.

Early in the third quarter, Paly advanced the ball into Cherokee territory and from the 8-yard line, McLachlan ran over for the goal, after he had apparently been downed behind the line by Indian tacklers.

The "Big Game" showed the Indians improved and playing some of the best football of the season. Eaton, Rhoda, Cullen, DeLacy, and Cleland were outstanding for the Cherokees.

In their final contest of the season ,the Cherokees will go south this Saturday to battle Santa Maria high in a practice tilt. The Saints' have a strong squad and have rolled up impressive scores during their season, which should indicate a close tussle.

Following was the lineup:

Local Hoopsters To Meet San Jose

Cherokee Team Expected To Be In Best Condition For Contest

With the team at it's peak, the Sequoia 110-pound basketball team should beat the San Jose Hoopsters when they encounter them tonight in the Sequoia gymnasium. When the locals played the San Jose 10's in the first round of P.A.L. competition, they were just coming back after three losses, but now they are at their best, having beaten San Mateo Friday.

Although the Cherokee Dimes won three weeks ago from the San Jose boys it was by the small score of 8-7. The team has since been improving steadily, overcoming it's fateful third quarter fatigue act in the last two games. Some of the practice games and one league game were lost on account of weakness of the Sequoians in the third and sometimes fourth quarter.

Although the Sequoia 120's havn't won so many games, they will be pepped up Friday because their captain, Ed. Matheson, will be back in the lineup. Ed. was kept out of last week's game because of sickness. The 20's have a fair chance to win if they play well, especially since Kniveton, Cherokee forward, has improved, being high point man in the San Mateo game. Coach Griffin, expects two hard-fought games.

The San Jose teams have but one change in lineups since their last games with Sequoia, Goodwin will play at guard position with captain Sakamoto in the first game instead of Fenollo.

The lineups:

Sequoia		San Jose
110's
McGuire (C)	forward	Felse
Swanson	forward	Hall
Inouye	center	Shew
Shine	guard	Goodwin
Murphy	guard	Sakamoto (C)
Sequoia		San Jose
120's
Kniveton	forward	DeFranco (C)
Pommes	forward	Mabey
Matheson (C)	center	Goodwin
Blasdel	guard	Arnerich
Demma	guard	O'kagaki

SEQUOIA WATER POLO SQUAD AT PRACTICE

Daily after-school practices are now in progress by Coach Jim Eva's water polo team at Sequoia Union High School. The turnout this year shows signs of a promising season, including several veterans from last year, such as Martin, Cartwright, Hansen and Adams.

This winter will be Sequoia's first venture in league water polo.

MENLO PARK

A meeting of the citizens of Palo Alto and East Palo Alto, Runnymede and North Palo Alto, will be held at the school auditorium at East Palo Alto to discuss the proposition of continuing Lytton avenue which runs to the stadium to connect with the Bayshore highway some where near Willow road. The people of the College City desire to have direct connection with the new thoroughfare. Menlo Park is making no move in this matter. The people are sleeping on this all-important question.

Chief of Police Love did clever work on Monday when he apprehended Wong Bow, an alleged dope peddler and it is said an ex-convict. Bow was caught as he approached town from Palo Alto and was given short shift by Love who ordered him out of the city. Bow departed post haste. Love is a vigilant and capable officer who has a keen eye for the dope peddler who is giving this city a wide berth.

Chuck Wong, a graduate of Sequoia Union High School, came up from Los Angeles, where he is engaged in business Tuesday, to be at the bedside of his mother, who is very ill from inflammatory rheumatism. Her life is dispaired of.

F. W. Johnson has completed his work of repairing roads at East Palo Alto. He has been busy for some weeks improving the principal streets in that growing locality.

J. H. O'Keefe, who is spending the winter in the city, was here Tuesday to make preparations for planting his new garden. His garden in summer is one of the best in town.

Ben Harrison, grand trustee of the native sons, will pay an official visit to the local parlor on November 20. A full membership is urged for that evening. A banquet will follow the routine business of the parlor.

The dog poisoner is once again in town. Several canines have been sent to the happy hunting grounds during the week. The wretch who would poison a dog would steal the nickels from his dead mother's eyes.

Thomas Furman, Jr., departed on an Oriental vessel during the week for Australia. Young Furman is a very worthy youngster and will do well. He intends to follow the sea as an occupation. He is popular with his associates who wish him success in his chosen career.

Sen. Samuel M. Shortridge leaves tomorrow for Washington, stopping off at Los Angeles for several days to meet friends, before proceeding to the capital. Mr. Shortridge is chairman of important committees that will have to make reports before congress meets on the first Monday in December. The senator looks for a lively session as many matters of importance will come up for discussion. He may return to California early in the spring as the session closes on March 4 unless the president calls an extra session which is unlikely. The many friends of Mr. Shortridge are buckling on their armor for the battle to re-elect him two years hence. It is rumored in political circles that he will be unopposed as his record is such that no one would care to measure swords with him in the senatorial contest. He is a good man for the state and should be kept at Washington.

Matthew Harris, the popular and capable mayor of Atherton, has returned from an eastern trip and is at his home. Mr. Harris believes the apex of hard times has been reached and that we are in for a long period of good times.

Although there are more papers in Menlo Park than are required for the present population it was rumored yesterday that another journay was to be started next week. This new comer is representing the progressive element of the city. It's to be a live wire. It'll boost, not knock.

Last night the big bon fire at Menlo Junior College was witnessed by several hundred people. It was the big blaze for the annual football game of the college. The game takes place today at San Francisco with the San Mateo Junior College. "Pop" Warner addresesd the boys and gave the pointers to win the contest. Dudley De Groot, who coached the local team, is confident his boys will win. This annual contest is always a big affair.

Deputy District Attorney Dick Bell, Constable Jack Grill ,Edward Farrell, undersheriff, and Judge McAuliffe went over to Whiskey Slough in the San Joaquin Valley Tuesday and returned with the limit in bass. From the name of the stream it would seem that it would not be a difficult task, for fish will drink you know, and while in their drinking moods nibble any hook. This is no reflection on the fishing ability of the quartet for each and every one of them is an angler of very high order.

The city council met in regular session Wednesday night with a full membership. Harmony prevailed and business was transacted smoothly and without interruption.

A communication was read from Ruth Jaynes, representing the Scout organization of Sequoia Union High School, asking for a subscription to aid in the work of character building of the girls attending the school. The sum of $2000 is needed for the work. The council took no action in the request, simply filing the communication.

Commissioner Crane read the monthly report of Chief of Police Love which showed that the sum of $1,077.60 had been collected last month as follows: licenses, $567.50; motor vehicle violations $434.50; and other sources, $75.60.

Mayor Weeden reported that work on Hoover street would be commenced in a day or two. The delay was caused by work on the street by the Bear Gulch Water Company in laying its pipes.

The clerk was instructed to transfer the sum of $250 from the road fund to the street improvement fund.

On motion of Blake, seconded by Crane a motor cycle was purchased for the street department at a cost of $220.

The poundmaster's claim amounting to $116 was again laid over until the next regular meeting. The clerk was directed to notify J. B. Felix, poundmaster to be present at that time and explain the bill.

City Attorney Witworth announced that he was preparing an amendment to the police ordinance providing for the special duty policeman's salary. During the discussion that followed the announcement it was brought out that the special officer was receiving $5 every night a dance took place at the Blue Moon Dance Hall which was equivalent to $40 a month. The money was paid by the proprietor. This was in accordance with the police regulations. Blake and the mayor thought the money should be paid into the treasury and a warrant for the money issued to the officer. That will be incorporated in the new ordinance. Dale said this was sought to be done some time ago but was opposed by the last administration.

City Engineer Maehl presented plans and specifications for street improvement in Stanford Park. He explained that a number of the property owners there desired complete improvements, sidewalks, curbs, etc. The plans call for 36 feet of pavements on the streets without curbs or sidewalks. In order that the property holders may be heard a special meeting was called for November 18, when all will be heard on the subject. The engineer was ordered to notify all the property owners. The streets to be paved are included in the territory between the creek to Middle avenue and from the highway to Arbor avenue, containing 17,740 lineal feet. Mehl said the complete improvements would cost $67 a year more than the ones called for in the specifications.

On motion of Crane, seconded by Blake the sum of $25 was appropriated to the contingent fund of the city clerk.

The council adjourned to the regular meeting on November 25. A special meeting is to be held on November 18.

Sites Selected For Trans-Ocean Radio Stations

Transmitting Station To Be At Dixon; Receiving At Point Reyes

Sites for radio stations for telephone service across the Pacific Ocean have been purchased by the Trans-Pacific Communication Company, Ltd., a subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Erection of the stations will begin early next year and service between the United States and Hawaii is scheduled for January 1932, according to advice received

This is the first step in the move of the Bell System to connect its United States network with the far Eastern countries in or bordering the Pacific. The project contemplates eventual establishment of services to Japan, Australia, the Philippines and Alaska, as well as ships at sea.

The transmitting station will be located at Dixon, California, near Sacramento. The twenty kilowatt transmitter to be installed there, which will be similar to those used in the Trans-Atlantic telephone service, will operate on wave lengths between fourteen and forty four meters. The antennas will have marked directional characteristics. Other transmitters will be installed as new channels are opened.

The receiving station will be located at Point Reyes, California, on the Coast northwest of San Francisco. Its antennas will also have directional characteristics. The equipment for both stations is now being built by the Western Electric Company and the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., the research organization of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The radio channels set up by these stations initially will connect with the telephone system of the Mutual Telephone Company of Hawaii. This consists of wire networks on several of the Islands to be linked to each other by a low power short wave radio telephone system that is being extended to cover practically the entire archipelago.

DEPUTY COUNTY CLERK SUBS FOR JUDGE BUCK

Eugene Cerqui, the popular and quite good looking clerk of the superior court, pulled a fast one, unwittingly however, yesterday in the court room just before court was convened at one o'clock. It is customary for the bailiff to set just inside the entrance to the Court room and in this position can see the judge through the stained glass window as he emerges from his quarters. The shawod of the judge is thrown upon the windows. When this shadow appears the polite baliff closes the door to the room and calls for order and directs the ladies to remove their hats. Ed Farrell, the undersheriff, acting for Joe Meeks, saw the shadow and at once gave the usual order when to his dismay and pertuberation out comes Cerqui, who saw the situation and blushingly bowed and retired to the chagrin of the good natured undersheriff who came in for considerable joshing from the crowded court room. Cerqui came from the judge's chamber with an order just at the time when the judge was to appear, and Farrell thinking it was Judge Buck, gave his accustomed order.

Cerqui ever since has been humming "Me and My Shadow."

SAFEWAY STORES TO AID IN HOUSEWIVE'S PROBLEMS

Mrs. Julia Lee Wright, Director Safeway Homemakers' Bureau

Safeway Stores today announced the establishment of the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau. Through this Bureau ,it is stated women of Redwood City are to be offered the advice of a recognized nationally-known authority on household problems free of charge.

The director of the Bureau is Julia Lee Wright, a woman of outstanding reputation in her field. She will have ample facilities in the way of test kitchens ,able assistants, etc., for giving individual attention to requests for advice.

Through the colums of this newspaper and regularly over the air, Mrs. Wright will offer helpful suggestions to local women. An invitation to communicate with her on household subjects is to be open to all. Mrs. Wright's series of radio broadcasts ,every Tuesday and Friday morning at 11:10 Pacific Standard Time will start November 18 as a new feature of the "Woman's Magazine of the Air", sponsored by the National Broadcasting Company.

According to Safeway executives the services of the Bureau are to be made available ,without charge or obligation of any kind, to all women in the vast territory from Denver West. The plan and scope of service to be rendered is said to be considereably greater than that ordinarily undertaken by an enterprise of this nature, and is the first of its kind in the West.

The major object of the Bureau, it was stated, is to assist homemakers in getting the utmost in value, their food expenditures. Increasing demand for authoritative information on this subject prompted the decision to establish the Bureau, it was stated.

The service, it is pointed out, will be more than a menu and recipe service, although these are included. It is to be a complete advisory service for women in the home, and will touch upon any problem of home administration and management which may be referred to it by the housewife; whether a Safeway store patron or not. Entertainment ideas, short cuts to meal planning, the best ways to organize family expenditures and other subjects of equal importance will be treated. A special feature of the Bureau's work will be advice to brides on how to effectively organize their first attempts at housekeeping.

Julia Lee Wright, the bureau director, is well known in home economics circles all over the West and in the Hawaiian Islands. She attended the University of Washington, Detroit Teachers' College and American Institution of Baking at Chicago. She has conducted cooking schools the length of the Coast ,through the Middle West and in the Hawaiian Islands for the past six years and directed many of the cooking schools conducted by newspapers as well as cooking schools in Oakland, Seattle and Portland, Honolulu and Hilo.

More recently Mrs. Wright has been service director for a large chain of cafeterias in a large metropolitan city. In addition to this, she spent three years as a member of the home service department of the General Electric Co. These varied interests have established wide contacts with thousands of women, and have made her intimately familiar with the many perplexing problems confronting them in their daily work. Under the auspices of Safeway, it is believed she enters upon a career of greatest usefulness.

The Bureau will have its headquarters in the Safeway offices at Oakland, California.

WE ARE GOING FAST!

COSTOMER - PARTNERS ARE GROWING IN NUMBER EVERY DAY

Just think! It takes only six dollars cash to become a Customer-Partner in the Clarence Saunders Stores.

You get a profit book that will save you another 2½ cents on each dollar spent in a Clarence Saunders Store. No charge is made for the profit book, you pay nothing for it, but we pay $1.25 cash for each profit book when it is filled with profit stamps. Six dollars cash payment on two shares of $10.00 par value, Class "A" Common Stock—balance to be paid one dollar a week or a larger payment if you prefer.

The Stock is non-assessable—has full voting rights—no water in it—no bonus stock to any one—no preferred stock—no bonds—no bank loans—behind it a going business that set another new record in sales last week—the largest in our history—thanks to our new Customer-Partners.

We are giving you FREE the new profit stamps because you are a stockholder.

As each profit book is filled with profit stamps you get another from the store manager, and so on, for as long a time as you own two shares of stock or more in the Company.

You are not required to make any further purchase of stock at any time to continue your privilege indefinitely of getting profit stamps with every purchase from a Clarence Saunders Store.

Should you remove to another town where we have the Customer-Partnership plan in force you will have the same privilege of getting profit stamps in a Clarence Saunders Store there so long as you own two shares or more of stock in this Company.

Our plan is to promote the Customer-Partnership plan from California to the Atlantic and the people of the Bay District can always point to the fact that they were the first backers of the plan which made all the other expansion possible.

To make our Customer-Partnership plan easy for every one to participate in, is the reason we accept the small amount of six dollars as a cash payment.

We don't need any money for our present business as our stores are fully paid for, but we want new money to expand our stores into all the towns of suitable size in Northern California.

A large number of stockholders make more certain profitable results from operation as the larger the number of stockholders, that many more boosters are behind the business.

Mr. Rich Man, and you Mr. Business Man, and you Mr. Bond Buyer, cannot afford to pass the opportunity offered of saving 2½ cents extra on each dollar of your food bill, whether you want to make a larger investment or not. You get all of this in addition to the low prices that we offer and besides that such cash dividends as the stock may pay.

Let everybody think about my Customer-Partnership plan and act quickly before it is too late.

Any manager of a Clarence Saunders Store will be glad to explain anything you don't understand or you may call Humboldt 2022 for information.
